I love playing tennis and I have 3 main reasons why I love playing tennis so much.

Kohtaro Sai

1st reason, I love playing a solo sport.

I will say it myself, but I like solo sport more than team sport, I don't hate team sport, but I like solo sport more. I played soccer for 3 years, and I think I was better than average, but in soccer just cause you're good doesn't mean your team is good, and these things happened a lot when I was playing soccer, I always felt like my team was pulling my leg. Of course, I learned many new things and why it is good to play team sport, but in the end, I switched to a sport and that is why I am playing tennis right now. I get to express how I feel, and the best thing is that I get to decide what I want to, and how I want to play my game of tennis. I get to move my opponents and I get to finish the point, and I get to win the match.

2nd reason, it is a sport where you use a bat and a ball.

I love using equipment and making it custom just for me. And just in case you don't know in tennis you get to change your racket so much. There are different types of strings, grip tape, etc. and the best thing is that there are more than 100 different types of racket. And I would like to try them all. My best friend is my tennis racket, because I can't play without him, and I am always with him.

3rd reason, it is also a strategy game.

In tennis you get to hit the ball wherever you like to hit if the ball is in the court, and you can shake the opponent around, and move them around, but the hard part is that they do the same thing because of course they want to win too. And that is when the game of tennis starts to be exiting.

In conclusion, I like playing tennis because of 3 reasons, I love playing a solo sport. I get to decide what to do. It is a sport where you use a bat and a ball you get to customize things. It is also a strategy game. You can make the opponent move.
